

Zachary Roberts is an English countertenor entering his second year as an Academical Clerk in the Choir of New College, Oxford, where he also studies Music. He was a chorister at St George's Chapel Windsor Castle under the direction of James Vivian, before moving to Winchester College; whilst there, he was a member of the Chapel Choir for his last three years, was taught singing by David Clegg, and studied composition under both Oliver Tarney and Matthew Martin. Prior to arriving at New College, Zachary was a choral scholar at Peterborough Cathedral, taking part in various concerts and a recording. Outside of the choir at New College, he is a part of Oxford's Schola Cantorum under Steven Grahl and is taught singing by Bronwen Mills and William Purefoy.
